LEAVE WITH PAY URGED FOR NAVAL MILITIAMEN

Division Report Advocates Law Granting Employes Leave of Absence During Cruises.

Legislation granting Federal em-ployes throughout the country who are members of State naval militia forces leave of absence with full pay during the period of annual practice cruises; and legislation empowering commanding officers of naval militia while on practice cruises to try offenders by court-martial, are the outstanding recommendations in the annual report of the division of naval militia affairs of the Navy Department made public last night.

Special attention is also called in

The allies will win the war.
There is no doubt about it, it is only

There have been many costly mistakes in the management of the British cam-paign. The most costly blunder was the Dardanelles expedition. The cause of Dardanelles expedition. The cause of most of these errors was the lack of a general staff. These defects, however, are being remedied. England has only I was in the Dardanelles campaign
